

While this issue of the Standard is dated Friday, December 1, it is printed Wednesday evening, November 29. We are in hopes no one will be without a good dinner on Thanksgiving Day and the least of us have a lot to be thankful for.

It has been whispered around that because the several road projects that had been announced in the counties throughout the State had been recalled by Wallace Crossley, that all the Federal relief projects had been abandoned. Such is not the case. It is expected civil projects for the relief will go forward as fast as they can be approved in Jefferson City. The road fund, supposed to be used by Mr. Crossley, is different from the civil relief fund. The call may come at any moment to report for work.

A negro man was taken from the St. Joseph, Mo., jail Tuesday night by a mob, hanged then burned for a criminal assault on a white woman. Six months ago he criminally assaulted a negro girl and nothing was done about it. To our way of thinking that is what every negro man should get who commits such a crime on a white woman.

WOMAN KILLS MAN WHO KILLED HER SON

San Antonio, Texas, Nov. 28.—Minus Doolittle, 24 years old, was waylaid and shot to death last night by Mrs. A. H. Bailey, who, after surrendering was quoted by Sheriff Albert Hauser as saying she had killed him "for what he did to my son."

Mrs. Bailey is the mother of Albert James McCoy, who was shot to death as he walked with a woman companion on a downtown street here last January 11.

Doolittle surrendered in the McCoy killing but a grand jury refused to indict. When killed, McCoy was under charges of criminal attack on Mary Doolittle, sister of Minus Doolittle.

"I have just killed a man and want to surrender," Mrs. Bailey told the sheriff. "I have just shot Minus Doolittle for what he did to my son. Since my son died, I have nothing to live for." Then she fainted.

The Sheriff and Mrs. Hauser revived the woman and she was taken to the county jail in her own car. The sheriff said he found a double-barreled, sawed-off shotgun in the car with two exploded cartridges in the chambers.

In Mrs. Bailey's purse the sheriff found a small card bearing on one side the picture of Doolittle and on the other the sheriff's home address.

Mrs. Bailey is the wife of a master sergeant at Randolph field.

ONE COW—ONE DOLLAR
Pete Sherer, farmer who resides northeast of Sikeston, shipped a cow to the National Stockyards, East St. Louis, Ill., to be sold. The 650-pound cow sold for 75 cents per hundred or $4.87. The bill tendered Sherer along with his check from the Commission Co. showed the following deductions from the original amount: yardage 30c; insurance 1c; feed 5c; drayage $2.68; commission 80c.

The total amount of the check that Mr. Sherer finally received was $1.03.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Lawrence left for Mexico, Mo., Monday morning to spend the week with their daughter, Mrs. C. M. Clay and other friends and acquaintances. They formerly lived in Mexico and operated the Ringo Hotel, one of the best hotels in north Missouri.

Rev. and Mrs. J. A. Duncan, formerly of this city but who now reside in Maplewood, are here visiting the latter's brother, Herbert Finney, and family.

The Young Peoples Missionary Society of the Church of the Nazarene will meet Friday evening, 7 o'clock, at the church. All members requested to be present.

Charleston Working Hard to Get In Shape for Turkey Day Tilt Here

Charleston, Nov. 27.—The annual jinx that always crops up before the Thanksgiving Day game between the Charleston Bluejays and the Sikeston Bulldogs, has again turned up for the Charlestonians. With Sam Goodin out of the starting lineup, the team will be badly crippled. Goodin, who was injured in the Jackson game on November 10, was out for practice the last two days of last week, but had to favor his knee. Last week, Tommy Bynum and Jay L. Morgan, half backs, were both sick with the flu, but both may be in shape for the game. Bynum, Charleston's only triple threat man, was in school today, and was scheduled to be out for practice. Morgan, while in school today, will not be in uniform. In case Morgan or Bynum do not start the game, Glenn Davis, or S. B. Hardwick will be at halfback. Marion Wise, quarterbacking while Goodin is out, also has a bad knee which he has to favor considerably. The rest of the lineup will be Hoy, left end; Bush, left tackle; Mehler, left guard; Story, center; Shortz or Bryant at right guard; Halter, right tackle, and Wallace at right end. Scott will be at the fullback post.

In view of the past Thanksgiving games, Sikeston has the edge over Charleston, having won 11 to 9 for Charleston, two being scoreless ties. The rivalry, dating back to 1910, has seen 22 games played on Turkey Day between the two teams. No game was played in 1918 because of the war. Although Charleston won the first game last season, 13-6, they were defeated on Thanksgiving 12-0. That was the first time since 1928 that Sikeston had scored upon Charleston. This year, Charleston won the first game, on the local gridiron, 6-0.

The Charleston line will average 163 pounds with the backfield considerably lighter, averaging 147 pounds per man.

Winners of the previous Thanksgiving Day battles:

1910—Charleston 0; Sikeston 16.
1911—Charleston 0; Sikeston 3.

INDICTED BY FEDERAL GRAND JURY; MAKES BOND

Named in a federal indictment in St. Louis, W. R. Griffin of Sikeston has made $2000 bond before U. S. Commissioner John A. Ferguson here.

Griffin, a real estate dealer, is charged in the indictment with converting to his own use $525.52 due Ella Webb, while he was serving as guardian and curator for the child. Ella Webb is the daughter of Ulysses Webb, a World War veteran, and was to receive a money paid under the war risk insurance act. Griffin was appointed guardian in the Scott County Probate Court. The indictment sets out that the alleged misappropriation was on or about November 1, 1932.

The matter was transferred to Cape Girardeau, October 5, 1933, under order of U. S. Judge C. B. Davis. The indictment was signed by Louis H. Bruer, U. S. Attorney. Griffin was brought here by Deputy U. S. Marshall A. C. King.—Cape Missourian.

WORK FUNDS ALLOTTED TO S. E. MISSOURI COUNTIES

Jefferson City, Nov. 29.—Allotment of $5,623,300 for distribution to all counties under the civil works program in Missouri was announced Tuesday night by Wallace Crossley, state civil works director. The remainder of the $7,500,000 appropriation will be reserved for state projects and others, such as health and education.

The county allotments include:

Cape Girardeau, $38,400.
Butler, $34,200.
Dunklin, $44,700.
Pemiscot, $44,400.
Scott, $34,700.
Stoddard, $32,100.

A REAL FEAST ON THANKS- GIVING AT LITTLE COST

Thanksgiving, from the very first a day of feasting and rejoicing, may present many difficulties to the limited budget if all the ancient traditions of the feast days of yore are observed.

So a few suggestions for festive dishes which are not hard on the family budget are given by Inez S. Wilson, home economist. She suggests a mock duck made from a shoulder of lamb, as ideal for the smaller family who wants something special without extra cost.

Mock Duck

Wrap the "duck's" head in salt pork or bacon to prevent charring. Sprinkle with salt and pepper and place on a rack in an open roasting pan. Place in a hot oven (500 degrees F.) and sear for thirty minutes, or until nicely browned. Then rapidly reduce the temperature to that of a slow oven (300 degrees F.) and continue roasting at the low temperature until done. Do not add water and do not cover. Allow about thirty-five minutes per pound for roasting. When done, remove "duck" from the oven and take off the salt pork or bacon from the "head." Place in the center of a platter and garnish with watercress or parsley. Half a cranberry may be stuck in place to represent the eyes. Serve with cranberry jelly.

Cranberry Jelly
1 quart cranberries
2 cups sugar
1-4 teaspoon cinnamon
1-2 teaspoon cloves
1 cup water

Place these ingredients in a saucepan, cover and cook slowly until the cranberries burst open. Press through a sieve. Put into molds which have been dipped into cold water and chill. When set, turn out of molds and serve with mock duck.

Special baked potatoes may be placed on the platter around the "duck."

Special Baked Potatoes
Select smooth potatoes of about the same size. Wash well. Place them in the oven and bake until tender, about one hour. When done, cut a slice from each one. Scoop out the center. Mash and season with cream, salt and pepper. Whip until light and fluffy. Pile lightly into potato shells. Sprinkle with paprika and grated cheese and melt under the broiler flame.

Washington Current Comment

To the average reader, Russia still remains Russia, although technically she is the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics. She is both Asiatic and European, and embraces in her area a territory that stretches from the northern part of the Pacific Ocean to the Baltic Sea. Her population, about 147 million, is about equal to that of the United States. By measures of comparatively recent origin, approximately a billion acres of land have been taken from large landholders and distributed to the actual tillers of the soil.

Such, broadly considered, is the status of the nation whose representative is now in this country, seeking recognition. It is obvious, that, considered from the standpoint of mere size, Russia is not to be overlooked in the family of nations. The United States has claims amounting to about a billion dollars against the Soviet government. That is something which perhaps might be permitted to rest for the present, if there were nothing else to consider. Similar obligations remain unpaid, and the creditor is not saying much about it.

Perhaps the matter which stands out as the most unsurmountable barrier to a complete understanding, and to a recognition of Russia, is her propaganda activities of international character, which amount to direct attack against religion and the general principles of human rights of the particular kind that we have come to believe go with government of the people, by the people and for the people. The average American may not go very often to church, but there is firmly implanted in the American mind the concept that religion, as distinguished from sectarianism, is tied up somehow with a satisfactory government. The notion that the United States should join the Soviet Union of course cannot be tolerated.

Russia has put herself in a bad position by becoming a soap-box orator of the radical type. This is something that was made a feature of the last presidential campaign. It is perhaps the thing that stands most prominently in the way of accord during the existing state negotiations between representatives of the two countries. How to get Russia to step down from the Communist speaker's stand is the real problem.

Mr. Hitler, condemned in many quarters as the wild man of Europe, has made at least one sound move. He has arrested a citizen who failed to vote. The plan might be followed with profit in this country. Something should be done with the man who is too engrossed with his private affairs, or too big in his own estimation to get out to the polls with his fellows.

Repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment seems assured, and the papers give some space to the fashion in whiskey glasses that are likely to prevail. There is still considerable legislation to be done on the liquor question, and the dyes, although temporarily in the background, may figure out some sort of a legislative Tantalus cup before all is finished, it being recalled that Tantalus, although provided with a cup, had one of such construction that although it could be filled, emptied itself before it reached the drinker's lips.

Inflation promises to receive the early consideration of Congress, with pointed views expressed on the sides. A prominent politician who had acquired more property than he could afford was faced by the question: "How did he get it?" With plenty of money afloat, the man not deeply versed in the money question will not ask how the government got it. With most of us, the old query will remain: "How are we going to get it?"

According to press dispatches, the Nobel peace prize will not be awarded this year. It is true that there is a considerable amount of upheaval going on everywhere, and that there is much talk about the relative strength of navies, armaments and so on. It is suggested, however, that in view of the fact that the United States has set a good many European minds at rest by calling the debt question off for the present, Europe might at least have conferred the Nobel peace prize on that mythical person known as Uncle Sam.

Bill For Sales Tax Passed in House Ballot

Jefferson City, Nov. 28.—Major administration measures moved swiftly from the House to the Senate today as it passed a 1 per cent general sales tax bill and the Weakley public works measure.

The administration sales tax measure was taken up as a special order of business this morning, and without discussion, the lower branch gave it a vote of confidence and sent it to the Senate.

Surprising even its proponents, the public works measure was given an overwhelming majority. The vote on the measure, sponsored in the lower branch by Rep. Wm. B. Weakley, Democrat of Pike County, was 112 to 3.

The governor's sales tax bill was passed 98 to 31. More than the 100 votes necessary for an emergency clause were obtained when a group of members changed their negative votes.

The 1-4 of 1 per cent committee substitute measure, sponsored as a counter proposal to the administration measure, was snowed under an avalanche of negative votes. In addition to sales of merchandise, sales of service also would have been taxed under the latter measure.

The Weakley measure may be referred to the Senate committee which killed the three administration public works bills last week.

Cities of 75,000 population and less would be permitted to vote purchase or construction of utility plants and other projects by a majority vote, with a bond issue to be retired out of earnings under the public works measures. The three who voted against the Weakley bill are: Reps. John Taylor of Chariton county; L. J. Drury of Ste. Genevieve county, and B. G. Bucker of Phelps county, all Democrats.

The sales tax measure would become effective upon its signature by the governor. It has been estimated that it would raise from $7,000,000 to $9,000,000 annually.

Administration of the measure, handled on the floor of the House by Rep. Eugene Munger, Democrat of Scott county, would be under the state auditor.

Southeast Missouri legislators voted on the sales tax measure as follows: For—Talbert, Cape Girardeau; Munger, Scott; Sherwood, Stoddard; Meredith, Butler; Over-all, Dunklin; Klein, Bollinger; Wallace, New Madrid. Against—Barry, Mississippi. Absent or not voting, Buckey, Pemiscot.

Civil Works Committee Approves Projects To Aid Unemployed

The Civil Works Committee of six for Scott County met in Benton Tuesday evening and approved projects to assist the unemployed by the governor. The amount involved was around $25,000. Scott county will probably be entitled to $34,500 but administration expenses will have to be considered.

Projects for other sections of Scott county are being perfected and will go to Jefferson City later for approval.

After being approved the projects above named were taken to Jefferson City, Wednesday morning by Joseph L. Matthews and Dr. G. W. Presnell, members of the Sikeston City Council, who had an appointment at 10 o'clock with the officers in charge of this branch of relief work, and if the projects are approved there, authority will be brought back and relief work will begin at once.

In Sikeston and the Sikeston Special Road District, 400 have registered for work and from this list the number required for the work will be selected. Beginning with war veterans, then men with families will be hired.

The council room in the City Hall is being put in order for the administration officers and will be accessible to all interested parties during all reasonable hours.

A. C. Barrett, disbursing officer for Scott county, will have his office in this room as well as John Young in charge of the registration.

The filing of the return and payment of the tax shall be made to the Collector of Internal Revenue, Customs Building at St. Louis, Mo., for the east half, on or before the last day of the month succeeding the month in which liability is incurred; that is the tax on hogs butchered during November shall be reported and paid to the Collector on or before the last day of December. The report must be mailed in time to reach the collector's office on or before the last day of the month. The Processing Tax forms will be distributed by the collector as quickly as possible.

About one-fourth of the North Kingshighway Spur paving has been laid to date. The crews are working seven days each week as nearly as the code will allow. It is estimated that the paving will be finished by December 20 if the weather continues favorable.

About 3:00 o'clock Tuesday morning two negroes walked into the sick room and lined up all the negroes present and robbed them of about $25. During the holdup one of the men advanced to the bedside with a gun pointed toward Terry. The fright caused by the gunman is thought to have hastened Terry's death.

After the holdup men left Terry was found dead.

Crossley said that the order was the result of the confusion in regard to the building of CWA roads in each county. He said that the CWA administration here had been under the impression that from six to eight $5000 road projects in each county would be constructed with Federal funds separate from the civil works funds. He said that the county road projects must come out of the State's CWA allotment.

"Six to eight $5000 road projects in every county would 'sink' the State CWA administration," Crossley said.

PROCESSING TAX ON HOGS

A statement from Dan M. Nee, collector of internal revenue, Kansas City, Mo., gives authoritative information on the processing tax levied on pork and pork products. This statement makes it clear that no tax is to be collected from the farmer on the hogs he butchers for consumption by himself, his family and his employees. The same exemption applies to pork which a farmer may have his local butcher slaughter for him on a custom basis.

Mr. Nee's statement on the processing tax follows:

The Processing Tax on hogs became effective November 5, 1933. The tax is at the rate of 50c per hundred pounds, live weight, November 5 to November 30 inclusive; $1 per hundred pounds, live weight, during the month of December, 1933; $1.50 per hundred pounds, live weight, during the month of January, 1934, and on and after February 1, 1934, the rate is $2 per hundred pounds, live weight.

The tax is applicable on the first domestic processing, which is the slaughtering of hogs for sale or other disposition. Any one who kills hogs for sale or other disposition is liable for the tax thereon at the above rates. Farmers who kill the hogs and sell the meat, either to grocery stores or from door to door, or at the place of slaughter will be subject to tax.

It does not make any difference whether the hogs are raised by the processor or bought by him. The processor would also be liable for the tax on the processing of hogs brought to him for slaughtering where the owner of the hog did not produce same. The producer of hogs may take his hogs to a processor for slaughtering but the processor must report same and the producer must give an exemption affidavit on that amount of pork necessary for the consumption by the producer, his family and his employees. The affidavit shall not cover an amount greater than that needed for consumption within the foregoing limits.

The reference of live weight is to the weight of the live animal at the time of slaughtering. The processor is required to keep a record for the period from November 30, 1933, to the end of the year, for each calendar month thereafter of (1) the number and weight of hogs on hand at the beginning of the period, (2) number and weight of hogs received during the period, (3) the number and weight of hogs shipped or delivered during that period, and (4) the number and weight of hogs on hand at the end of the period. Number and weight must be actual count and weight, not estimation.

The filing of the return and payment of the tax shall be made to the Collector of Internal Revenue, Customs Building at St. Louis, Mo., for the east half, on or before the last day of the month succeeding the month in which liability is incurred; that is the tax on hogs butchered during November shall be reported and paid to the Collector on or before the last day of December. The report must be mailed in time to reach the collector's office on or before the last day of the month. The Processing Tax forms will be distributed by the collector as quickly as possible.

THE TRAGEDY OF PRICE PEGGING

Editors in the western grain belt as well as in eastern industrial sections continue pointing out the dangers of price fixing as advocated by farm strike leaders and other radicals. Down the ages all such efforts failed.

Back in 1668 Samuel Pepys, famous diarist, lamented the low price of wheat. "Landowners," he wrote, "do talk much of the present cheapness, even to miracle, so that their farmers can pay no rent, but do fling up their lands." He strongly urged the proper development of markets.

Speaking to congress on agricultural promotion in 1796, President George Washington stressed the importance of boards for collecting and diffusing information, declaring experience had shown "they are very cheap instruments of immense national benefits."

A hundred years ago the great English essayist, Macaulay, wrote in favor of normal markets, declaring: "Our rulers will best promote the improvement of the nation by strictly confining themselves to their own legitimate duties—by leaving capital to find its most lucrative course, commodities their fair price, industry and intelligence their natural reward."

There are few periods in history when the price of some major commodity was not causing widespread distress and bringing outcries for price control. Yet all efforts along such precarious lines have been tragic failures.

Even the law of Confucius stabilizing grain prices collapsed. Greece despaired over grain values refusing to obey the will of the government. Roman history notes that in A. D. 310 food and clothing prices were fixed, and death and suffering marked the path to the hour of repeal.

England repeatedly tried price-fixing, from the days of her futile "corn law" down to the present. India's famines were given added horror by price-fixing attempts; Revolutionary France paid heavily for her errors along similar lines.

In recent times Britain's rubber plan crumbled and sent prices below the levels that induced the plan. Having a hold on coffee, Brazil tried price control with the bitter result that coffee sold in New York for less than the cost of getting it there.

It is a long casualty list; Cuba failed dismally in sugar price control; Chile with nitrates; Italy with sulphur, and so on.

In each instance the lesson was clear-cut and indisputable: Prices cannot be fixed by law; supply and demand must rule.

Such a wealth of historical background on the value of markets and the dangers of price-fixing should in the opinion of able commentators, keep the United States from entering any experiment in the socialization of farm commodities.

Some editors point out that all possible new markets for our products should be opened and we should eventually win back our export trade.

The Chicago Daily News says "holding our farm produce at a higher level than world markets is really treachery to the American farmer... If we are not to export farm produce, many of our farmers must change their vocation."

"When the Argentine or Australian undersells us in Liverpool, it gives a market to those countries for the current crop and inspires them to grow more next year. In time they build up a thrift farming population that believes it has a right to such a market, and would stick to the farm for a generation of low priced competition before giving up what we deliberately abandoned. That may not be pleasant but it happens to be the truth."

Other editors say that meantime our futures and hedging markets for grain should be kept free, open and liquid.

my dear... you flatter yourself!

Yes, you flatter every ounce of yourself in this new formal Vassarette. Isn't it a blessing... to find an utterly backless foundation that really supports and uplifts your bust? (Most of them don't, you know.) And there isn't a hook or bone or frill to disturb the sinuous sheath of your gown. An altogether perfect formal foundation... that is simple and practical enough for daily duty.

MALONE THEATRE

SIKESTON, MISSOURI

Dear Picture Fan:

This theatre has the honor to present--Thursday and Friday, November 30 and December 1--Constance Bennett in what is perhaps her greatest role--that of a ravishing Russian spy playing for such stakes as love, life and the honor of her country in the red game of war.

"After Tonight," the title of the new RKO-Radio production, is a thrilling, heart-throbbing drama of the war fought behind the lines with the cunning and passion of a lovely woman.

In "After Tonight" Miss Bennett as a spy weilds through her charms and personality the power of an army corps. But that power must be broken by the Austrian intelligence, and the captain sent to capture the girl proves to be the man she loves. He--and he loves her too--discovers that she is a spy.

One of the most dramatic sequences presented in a long time is their last meeting--when he must either sentence her to a firing squad execution or turn traitor to his country.

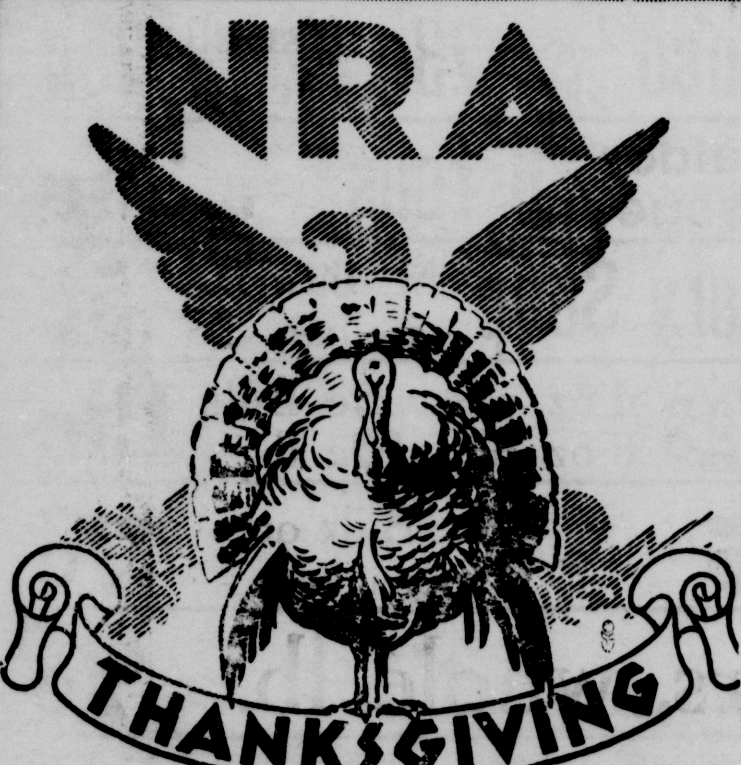

Constance Bennett and Gilbert Roland will give you the romantic and dramatic thrills of your life. And you'll be intrigued by the many emotional crises experienced by the woman spy in her perils and romance behind the battle lines!

See this elaborate feature set in Gay Vienna and the danger zone, but made without the horrors of war.

Very truly yours,

PETE MEDLEY, Manager
Malone Theatre

P. S.--We will have a Special Thanksgiving matinee Thursday at 2:30 and the evening shows will start at 6:30 and 8:30.--T. D. M.

The FACTS About TAX EQUALITY

City owned business should bear a fair share of taxes. That is only just and equitable. This series shows some of the reasons why TAX EQUALITY is necessary for the protection of every tax payer. Read and act!

Shall Tax Exemption Keep YOUR Children Out of School?

Cities that operate their own businesses are throwing an extra tax and school levy burden upon your shoulders—for they pay no taxes to the city, state or national government, and their securities are largely tax free.

Over $100,000,000 worth of city owned business property is tax exempt in the state, yet our citizens are tax ridden and our schools are destitute.

If this inequality in taxation were adjusted, if everyone had to pay equal taxes, the revenue from this tax exempt property alone would open every school door in the state and put hundreds of teachers back to work at living pay.

• Taxes Are Necessary for the Proper Operation of Government!

If you want a square TAX Deal MAIL THIS NOW!

ASSOCIATION FOR TAX EQUALITY
Box 38, Jefferson City, Mo.

I am in favor of an amendment and a law which will place all businesses on the tax rolls—whether privately or publicly owned—so that all such property shall pay its proportionate share of state, county and school taxes as well as state and federal income taxes.
I pledge that I will vote against any candidate for public office who is known to be opposed to such an equitable tax law.

It has been whispered around that because the several road projects that had been announced in the counties throughout the State had been recalled by Wallace Crossley, that all the Federal relief projects had been abandoned. Such is not the case. It is expected civil projects for the relief will go forward as fast as they can be approved in Jefferson City. The road fund, supposed to be used by Mr. Crossley, is different from the civil relief fund. The call may come at any moment to report for work.

A negro man was taken from the St. Joseph, Mo., jail Tuesday night by a mob, hanged then burned for a criminal assault on a white woman. Six months ago he criminally assaulted a negro girl and nothing was done about it. To our way of thinking that is what every negro man should get who commits such a crime on a white woman.

WOMAN KILLS MAN WHO KILLED HER SON

San Antonio, Texas, Nov. 28.—Minus Doolittle, 24 years old, was waylaid and shot to death last night by Mrs. A. H. Bailey, who, after surrendering, was quoted by Sheriff Albert Hauser as saying she had killed him "for what he did to my son."

Mrs. Bailey is the mother of Albert James McCoy, who was shot to death as he walked with a woman companion on a downtown street here last January 11.

Doolittle surrendered in the McCoy killing but a grand jury refused to indict. When killed, McCoy was under charges of criminal attack on Mary Doolittle, sister of Minus Doolittle.

"I have just killed a man and want to surrender," Mrs. Bailey told the sheriff. "I have just shot Minus Doolittle for what he did to my son. Since my son died, I have nothing to live for." Then she fainted.

The Sheriff and Mrs. Hauser revived the woman and she was taken to the county jail in her own car. The sheriff said he found a double-barreled, sawed-off shotgun in the car with two exploded cartridges in the chambers.

In Mrs. Bailey's purse the sheriff found a small card bearing on one side the picture of Doolittle and on the other the sheriff's home address.

ONE COW—ONE DOLLAR

Pete Sherer, farmer who resides northeast of Sikeston, shipped a cow to the National Stockyards, East St. Louis, Ill., to be sold. The 650-pound cow sold for 75 cents per hundred or $4.87. The bill tendered Sherer along with his check from the Commission Co. showed the following deductions from the original amount: yardage 30c; insurance 1c; feed 5c; drayage $2.68; commission 80c.

The total amount of the check that Mr. Sherer finally received was $1.03.

Charleston Working Hard to Get In Shape for Turkey Day Tilt Here

Charleston, Nov. 27.—The annual jinx that always crops up before the Thanksgiving Day game between the Charleston Bluejays and the Sikeston Bulldogs, has again turned up for the Charlestonians. With Sam Goodin out of the starting lineup, the team will be badly crippled. Goodin, who was injured in the Jackson game on November 10, was out for practice the last two days of last week, but had to favor his knee. Last week, Tommy Bynum and Jay L. Morgan, half backs, were both sick with the flu, but both may be in shape for the game. Bynum, Charleston's only triple threat man, was in school today, and was scheduled to be out for practice. Morgan, while in school today, will not be in uniform. In case Morgan or Bynum do not start the game, Glenn Davis, or S. B. Hardwick will be at halfback. Marion Wise, quarterback while Goodin is out, also has a bad knee which he has to favor considerably. The rest of the lineup will be Hoy, left end; Bush, left tackle; Mehler, left guard; Story, center; Shortz or Bryant at right guard; Halter, right tackle, and Wallace at right end. Scott will be at the fullback post.

In view of the past Thanksgiving games, Sikeston has the edge over Charleston, having won 11 to 9 for Charleston, two being scoreless ties. The rivalry, dating back to 1910, has seen 22 games played on Turkey Day between the two teams. No game was played in 1918 because of the war. Although Charleston won the first game last season, 13-6, they were defeated on Thanksgiving 12-0. That was the first time since 1928 that Sikeston had scored upon Charleston. This year, Charleston won the first game, on the local gridiron, 6-0.

The Charleston line will average 163 pounds with the backfield considerably lighter, averaging 147 pounds per man.

Winners of the previous Thanksgiving Day battles:

1910—Charleston 0; Sikeston 16.
1911—Charleston 0; Sikeston 3.
1912—Charleston 0; Sikeston 40.

Jury Fails to Reach Verdict in Holdup Case

Benton, Nov. 28.—A circuit court jury, which heard the trial of Albert "Devil" Johnson, formerly of Sikeston, charged with robbing Orville "Toots" Nall, Sikeston filling station proprietor, was discharged shortly before noon today after failing to agree. Nall was robbed, shot and wounded Sept. 15, at his service station 2 miles north of Sikeston on Highway 61.

Testimony was finished Monday afternoon and the jurors considered the case three hours before night. They were allowed to begin deliberations again at 9 a. m. today.

Johnson was charged with being one of two men who held Nall up at the filling station, two miles north of Sikeston, early the morning of September 15, shooting and wounding him and taking about $30. A woman, Nall said remained in the automobile for which six gallons of gasoline had been bought.

The three men had gone into the station building, where Nall started to get change for a $10 bill. One of the thugs struck him with a pistol, and one of the pair shot him in the left chest as Nall grappled with them. Nall after a period in a hospital, recovered. Johnson was taken into custody two days later in Poplar Bluff.

Charleston Man Injured When Car Overturned

Coleman Golliday, formerly of Charleston, suffered a broken jaw and numerous cuts and bruises when the Chevrolet sedan he was driving turned over several times near Buckeye, Tuesday morning at about 7:15 o'clock. Golliday, who was coming here from Charleston, was turning a curve east of Buckeye when his car suddenly turned over several times. It is thought that a tire blew out causing the machine to swerve. Golliday, who was alone, was pinned in the machine and was taken from it stunned and brought here by passersby. Golliday was treated at the hospital and returned to Charleston. The body of the auto was demolished.

Must Put Lights On Horse-Drawn Vehicles

The Missouri State Highway Patrol expects to institute a more vigorous campaign against the operation of horsedrawn vehicles on the roads and highways of Missouri at night without lamps or reflectors, according to Colonel B. M. Costel, superintendent. The statutes of Missouri forbid drivers of horsedrawn vehicles to use public roads, highways, city streets or alleys at night, unless displaying proper lights, and provide a penalty for such violations.

It was pointed out by Colonel Costel that wrecks attributable to unlighted wagons and buggies, many of them serious and all of them costly, are almost a nightly occurrence in this state.

Negroes Robbed Filling Station In Charleston

The Simpson Oil Co. station at the intersection of Highway 60 and the East Prairie highway in Charleston was robbed of $50 by three negroes about 9:00 o'clock Tuesday night.

The negroes drove by the station and stopped on the East Prairie road a little distance past the station. One man walked back to the station and with his gun forced Bruce DeField to turn over the cash. He then forced the attendant to walk down the road with him nearly to the auto. At that point he instructed the man to walk back toward the station slowly and raced to the car and drove south toward East Prairie.

The only identification of the auto and its occupants was given by an attendant at another station who had seen three negroes in an automobile earlier.

The attendant at the Simpson station gave a description of the one man and a general idea of the auto. The holdup men escaped and as yet no trace of them have been found.

INDICTED BY FEDERAL GRAND JURY; MAKES BOND

Named in a federal indictment in St. Louis, W. E. Griffin of Sikeston has made $2000 bond before U. S. Commissioner John A. Ferguson here.

Griffin, a real estate dealer, is charged in the indictment with converting to his own use $525.52 due Ella Webb, while he was serving as guardian and curator for the child. Ella Webb is the daughter of Ulysses Webb, a World War veteran, and was to receive a money paid under the war risk insurance act. Griffin was appointed guardian in the Scott County Probate Court. The indictment sets out that the alleged misappropriation was on or about November 1, 1932.

The matter was transferred to Cape Girardeau, October 5, 1933, under order of U. S. Judge C. B. Davis. The indictment was signed by Louis H. Bruer, U. S. Attorney. Griffin was brought here by Deputy U. S. Marshall A. C. King.—Cape Missourian.

WORK FUNDS ALLOTTED TO S. E. MISSOURI COUNTIES

Jefferson City, Nov. 29.—Allotment of $5,623,300 for distribution to all counties under the civil works program in Missouri was announced Tuesday night by Wallace Crossley, state civil works director. The remainder of the $7,500,000 appropriation will be reserved for state projects and others, such as health and education. The county allotments include: Cape Girardeau, $38,400. Butler, $34,200. Dunklin, $44,700. Pemiscot, $44,400. Scott, $34,700. Stoddard, $32,100.

A REAL FEAST ON THANKS- GIVING AT LITTLE COST

Thanksgiving, from the very first day of feasting and rejoicing, may present many difficulties to the limited budget if all the ancient traditions of the feast days of yore are observed.

A few suggestions for festive dishes which are not hard on the family budget are given by Inez S. Wilson, home economist. She suggests a mock duck made from a shoulder of lamb, as ideal for the smaller family who wants something special without extra cost.

Mock Duck

Wrap the "duck's" head in salt pork or bacon to prevent charring. Sprinkle with salt and pepper and place on a rack in an open roasting pan. Place in a hot oven (500 degrees F.) and sear for thirty minutes, or until nicely browned. Then rapidly reduce the temperature to that of a slow oven (300 degrees F.) and continue roasting at the low temperature until done. Do not add water and do not cover. Allow about thirty-five minutes per pound for roasting. When done, remove "duck" from the oven and take off the salt pork or bacon from the "head." Place in the center of a platter and garnish with watercress or parsley. Half a cranberry may be stuck in place to represent the eyes. Serve with cranberry jelly.

Cranberry Jelly
1 quart cranberries
2 cups sugar
1-4 teaspoon cinnamon
1-2 teaspoon cloves
1 cup water

Place these ingredients in a saucepan, cover and cook slowly until the cranberries burst open. Press through a sieve. Put into molds which have been dipped into cold water and chill. When set, turn out of molds and serve with mock duck.

Special baked potatoes may be placed on the platter around the "duck."

Select smooth potatoes of about the same size. Wash well. Place them in the oven and bake until tender, about one hour. When done, cut a slice from each one. Scoop out the center. Mash and season with cream, salt and pepper. Whip until light and fluffy. Pile lightly into potato shells. Sprinkle with paprika and grated cheese and melt under the broiler flame.

Washington Current Comment

To the average reader, Russia still remains Russia, although technically she is the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics. She is both Asiatic and European, and embraces in her area a territory that stretches from the northern part of the Pacific Ocean to the Baltic Sea. Her population, about 147 million, is about equal to that of the United States. By measures of comparatively recent origin, approximately a billion acres of land have been taken from large landholders and distributed to the actual tillers of the soil.

Such, broadly considered, is the status of the nation whose representative is now in this country, seeking recognition. It is obvious, that, considered from the standpoint of mere size, Russia is not to be overlooked in the family of nations. The United States has claims amounting to about a billion dollars against the Soviet government. That is something which perhaps might be permitted to rest for the present, if there were nothing else to consider. Similar obligations remain unpaid, and the creditor is not saying much about it.

Perhaps the matter which stands out as the most unsurmountable barrier to a complete understanding, and to a recognition of Russia, is her propaganda activities of international character, which amount to a direct attack against religion and the general principles of human rights of the particular kind that we have come to believe go with government of the people, by the people and for the people. The average American may not go very often to church, but there is firmly implanted in the American mind the concept that religion, as distinguished from sectarianism, is tied up somehow with a satisfactory government. The notion that the United States should join the Soviet Union of course cannot be tolerated.

Russia has put herself in a bad position by becoming a soap-box orator of the radical type. This is something that was made a feature of the last presidential campaign. It is perhaps the thing that stands most prominently in the way of accord during the existing state negotiations between representatives of the two countries. How to get Russia to step down from the Communist speaker's stand is the real problem.

Mr. Hitler, condemned in many quarters as the wild man of Europe, has made at least one sound move. He has arrested a citizen who failed to vote. The plan might be followed with profit in this country. Something should be done with the man who is too engrossed with his private affairs, or too big in his own estimation to get out to the polls with his fellows.

Repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment seems assured, and the papers give some space to the fashion in whiskey glasses that are likely to prevail. There is still considerable legislation to be done on the liquor question, and the days, although temporarily in the background, may figure out some sort of a legislative Tantalus cup before all is finished, it being recalled that Tantalus, although provided with a cup, had one of such construction that although it could be filled, emptied itself before it reached the drinker's lips.

Inflation promises to receive the early consideration of Congress, with pointed views expressed on both sides. Years ago, a prominent politician who had acquired more property than he could account for was faced by the question: "How did he get it?" The man, not deeply versed in the money question, will not ask how the government got it. With most of us, the old query will remain: "How are we going to get it?"

According to press dispatches, the Nobel peace prize will not be awarded this year. It is true that there is a considerable amount of upheaval going on everywhere, and that there is much talk about the strength of navies, armaments and so on. It is suggested, however, that in view of the fact that the United States has set a good many European minds at rest by calling the debt question off for the present, Europe might at least have conferred the Nobel peace prize on that mythical person known as Uncle Sam.

CO-WORKERS TO HOLD RUMMAGE SALE IN DEC.

The Co-Workers of the local Methodist church met on Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. A. C. Sikes. At this time the society perfected plans for a rummage sale, which will be held in the early part of December.

Mrs. H. J. Welsh will be hostess at the next meeting of the Co-Workers, Tuesday December 12.

Bill For Sales Tax Passed in House Ballot

Jefferson City, Nov. 28.—Major administration measures moved swiftly from the House to the Senate today as it passed a 1 per cent general sales tax bill and the Weakley public works measure.

The administration sales tax measure was taken up as a special order of business this morning, and without discussion, the lower branch gave it a vote of confidence and sent it to the Senate.

Surprising even its proponents, the public works measure was given an overwhelming majority. The vote on the measure, sponsored in the lower branch by Rep. Wm. B. Weakley, Democrat of Pike County, was 112 to 3.

The governor's sales tax bill was passed 98 to 31. More than the 100 votes necessary for an emergency clause were obtained when a group of members changed their negative votes.

The 1-4 of 1 per cent committee substitute measure, sponsored as a counter proposal to the administration measure, was snowed under an avalanche of negative votes. In addition to sales of merchandise, sales of service also would have been taxed under the latter measure.

The Weakley measure may be referred to the Senate committee which killed the three administration public works bills last week.

Cities of 75,000 population and less would be permitted to vote purchase or construction of utility plants and other projects by a majority vote, with a bond issue to be retired out of earnings under the public works measures. The three who voted against the Weakley bill are: Reps. John Taylor of Chariton county; L. J. Drury of Ste. Genevieve County, and B. G. Buckner of Phelps County, all Democrats.

The sales tax measure would become effective upon its signature by the governor. It has been estimated that it would raise from $7,000,000 to $9,000,000 annually.

Administration of the measure, handled on the floor of the House by Rep. Eugene Munger, Democrat of Scott county, would be under the state auditor.

Southeast Missouri legislators voted on the sales tax measure as follows: For—Talbert, Cape Girardeau; Munger, Scott; Sherwood, Stoddard; Meredith, Butler; Over-all, Dunklin; Klein, Bollinger; Wallace, New Madrid. Against—Barry, Mississippi. Absent or not voting, Buckley, Pemiscot.

Civil Works Committee Approves Projects To Aid Unemployed

The Civil Works Committee of six for Scott County met in Benton Tuesday evening and approved projects to assist the unemployed in Anceff, Fornfelt, Ilmo, Benton, Vanduser, Chaffee and Sikeston. These were the only communities seeking relief and having their projects and estimates ready for the committee. The amount involved was around $25,000. Scott county will probably be entitled to $34,500 but administration expenses will have to be considered.

Projects for other sections of Scott county are being perfected and will go to Jefferson City later for approval.

After being approved the projects above named were taken to Jefferson City, Wednesday morning by Joseph L. Matthews and Dr. G. W. Presnell, members of the Sikeston City Council, who had an appointment at 10 o'clock with the officers in charge of this branch of relief work, and if the projects are approved there, authority will be brought back and relief work will begin at once.

In Sikeston and the Sikeston Special Road District, 400 have registered for work and from this list the number required for the work will be selected. Beginning with war veterans, then men with families will be hired.

The council room in the City Hall is being put in order for the administration officers and will be accessible to all interested parties during all reasonable hours.

A. C. Barrett, disbursing officer for Scott county, will have his office in this room as well as John Young in charge of the registration.

To Hold Meat Cutting Demonstration Dec. 6

A demonstration on cutting, trimming, etc., of pork with special attention to making those cuts which can best be used for canning will be given at the Community Building at Benton, Wednesday, December 6th at 10 a. m. Miss Flora Lee Carl of the Agricultural Extension Service will hold a meeting with the women of the building and discuss the canning of meats and meat cooking.

In the afternoon Miss Carl will give a demonstration on canning of meats, using those cuts made by the men in the morning demonstration. Both of these meetings are being sponsored by the Extension Home Economics Clubs which were organized in the county by the County Agent. These clubs have been working for two years in most cases and have clubs in the following communities: Bleda, Head School District, New Hamburg, Miner Switch, McMullin and the Tanner-Saleado area; the latter is the largest club in the county.

Sick Negro Died of Fright During Holdup

Norman Terry, 42, negro, who lived on the John Corbin farm five miles south of Sikeston, died during a holdup at his home Tuesday morning. Terry had been ill for several weeks with pneumonia.

About 3:00 o'clock Tuesday morning two negroes walked into the sick room and lined up all the negroes present and robbed them of about $25. During the holdup one of the men advanced to the bedside with a gun pointed toward Terry. The fright caused by the gunshots was thought to have hastened Terry's death.

After the holdup men left Terry was found dead.

State CWA Administrator Halts Work On All County Roads

Jefferson City, Nov. 28.—All civil works projects under the jurisdiction of the State Highway Department were temporarily abandoned today.

Wallace Crossley, State CWA Administrator, issued the order, following a telephone conversation with Corrington Gill, national CWA Finance Director.

Gill informed Crossley that the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads had no appropriations for county roads and that any county road work to be carried on would have to come out of the regular civil works allotments, Crossley said, Gill ordered all CWA road projects under the administration of the State Highway Department halted.

Crossley said that the order was the result of the confusion in regard to the building of CWA roads in each county. He said that the CWA administration here had been under the impression that from six to eight $5000 road projects in each county would be constructed with Federal funds separate from the civil works funds. He said that the county road projects must come out of the State's CWA allotment.

"Six to eight $5000 road projects in every county would 'sink' the State CWA administration," Crossley said.

Rev. and Mrs. C. F. Transue spent Tuesday in Parma with Mrs. Transue's brother, Walter Palmer.

PROCESSING TAX ON HOGS

A statement from Dan M. Nee, collector of internal revenue, Kansas City, Mo., gives authoritative information on the processing tax levied on pork and pork products. This statement makes it clear that no tax is to be collected from the farmer on the hogs he butchers for consumption by himself, his family and his employees. The same exemption applies to pork which a farmer may have his local butcher slaughter for him on a custom basis.

Mr. Nee's statement on the processing tax follows:

The Processing Tax on hogs became effective November 5, 1933. The tax is at the rate of 50c per hundred pounds, live weight, November 5 to November 30 inclusive; $1 per hundred pounds, live weight, during the month of December, 1933; $1.50 per hundred pounds, live weight, during the month of January, 1934, and on and after February 1, 1934, the rate is $2 per hundred pounds, live weight.

The tax is applicable on the first domestic processing, which is the slaughtering of hogs for sale or other disposition. Any one who kills hogs for sale or other disposition is liable for the tax thereon at the above rates. Farmers who kill the hogs and sell the meat, either to grocery stores or from door to door, or at the place of slaughter will be subject to tax.

It does not make any difference whether the hogs are raised by the processor or bought by him. The processor would also be liable for the tax on the processing of hogs brought to him for slaughtering where the owner of the hog did not produce same. The producer of hogs may take his hogs to a processor for slaughtering but the processor must report same and the producer must give an exemption affidavit on that amount of pork necessary for the consumption by the producer, his family and his employees. The affidavit shall not cover an amount greater than that needed for consumption within the foregoing limits.

The reference of live weight is to the weight of the live animal at the time of slaughtering. The processor is required to keep a record for the period from November 30, 1933 both inclusive, and for each calendar month thereafter of (1) the number and weight of hogs on hand at the beginning of the period, (2) number and weight of hogs received during the period, (3) the number and weight of hogs shipped or delivered during that period, and (4) the number and weight of hogs on hand at the end of the period. Number and weight must be actual count and weight, not estimation.

The filing of the return and payment of the tax shall be made to the Collector of Internal Revenue, Customs Building at St. Louis, Mo., for the east half, on or before the last day of the month succeeding the month in which liability is incurred; that is the tax on hogs butchered during November shall be reported and paid to the Collector on or before the last day of December. The report must be mailed in time to reach the collector's office on or before the last day of the month. The Processing Tax forms will be distributed by the collector as quickly as possible.

PAVING NOTES
About one-fourth of the North Kingshighway Spur paving has been laid to date. The crews are working seven days each week as nearly as the code will allow. It is estimated that the paving will be finished by December 20 if the weather continues favorable.

RED CROSS DRIVE GOING PRETTY SLOW

John Young, chairman of the Red Cross Membership Drive for Sikeston, reports several of his committees still unreported, with the membership today much below that of former years. He is anxious to close the drive and send in his report and requests the committees to make an effort to finish the drive at once.

THE TRAGEDY OF PRICE PEGGING

Editors in the western grain belt as well as in eastern industrial sections continue pointing out the dangers of price fixing as advocated by farm strike leaders and other radicals. Down the ages all such efforts failed.

Back in 1668 Samuel Pepys, famous diarist, lamented the low price of wheat. "Landowners," he wrote, "do talk much of the present cheapness, even to miracle, so that their farmers can pay no rent, but do fling up their lands." He strongly urged the proper development of markets.

Speaking to congress on agricultural promotion in 1796, President George Washington stressed the importance of boards for collecting and diffusing information, declaring experience had shown "they are very cheap instruments of immense national benefits."

A hundred years ago the great English essayist, Macaulay, wrote in favor of normal markets, declaring: "Our rulers will best promote the improvement of the nation by strictly confining themselves to their own legitimate duties—by leaving capital to find its most lucrative course, commodities their fair price, industry and intelligence their natural reward."

There are few periods in history when the price of some major commodity was not causing widespread distress and bringing outcries for price control. Yet all efforts along such precarious lines have been tragic failures.

Even the law of Confucius stabilizing grain prices collapsed. Greece despaired over grain values refusing to obey the will of the government. Roman history notes that in A. D. 310 food and clothing prices were fixed, and death and suffering marked the path to the hour of repeal.

England repeatedly tried price-fixing, from the days of her futile "corn law" down to the present. India's famines were given added horror by price-fixing attempts; Revolutionary France paid heavily for her errors along similar lines.

In recent times Britain's rubber plan crumbled and sent prices below the levels that induced the plan. Having a hold on coffee, Brazil tried price control with the bitter result that coffee sold in New York for less than the cost of getting it there.

It is a long casualty list; Cuba failed miserably in sugar price control; Chile with nitrates; Italy with sulphur, and so on.

In each instance the lesson was clear-cut and indisputable: Prices cannot be fixed by law; supply and demand must rule.

Such a wealth of historical background on the value of markets and the dangers of price-fixing should in the opinion of able commentators, keep the United States from entering any experiment in the socialization of farm commodities.

Some editors point out that all possible new markets for our products should be opened and we should eventually win back our export trade.

The Chicago Daily News says "holding our farm produce at a higher level than world markets is really treachery to the American farmer. . . . If we are not to export farm produce, many of our farmers must change their vocation."

"When the Argentine or Australian undersells us in Liverpool, it gives a market to those countries for the current crop and inspires them to grow more next year. In time they build up a thrift farming population that believes it has a right to such a market, and would stick to the farm for a generation of low priced competition before giving up what we deliberately abandoned. That may not be pleasant but it happens to be the truth."

Other editors say that meantime our futures and hedging markets for grain should be kept free, open and liquid.

MALONE THEATRE SIKESTON, MISSOURI

Dear Picture Fan:

This theatre has the honor to present--Thursday and Friday, November 30 and December 1--Constance Bennett in what is perhaps her greatest role--that of a ravishing Russian spy playing for such stakes as love, life and the honor of her country in the red game of war.

"After Tonight," the title of the new RKO-Radio production, is a thrilling, heart-throbbing drama of the war fought behind the lines with the cunning and passion of a lovely woman.

In "After Tonight" Miss Bennett as a spy weilds through her charms and personality the power of an army corps. But that power must be broken by the Austrian intelligence, and the captain sent to capture the girl proves to be the man she loves. He--and he loves her too--discovers that she is a spy.

One of the most dramatic sequences presented in a long time is their last meeting--when he must either sentence her to a firing squad execution or turn traitor to his country.

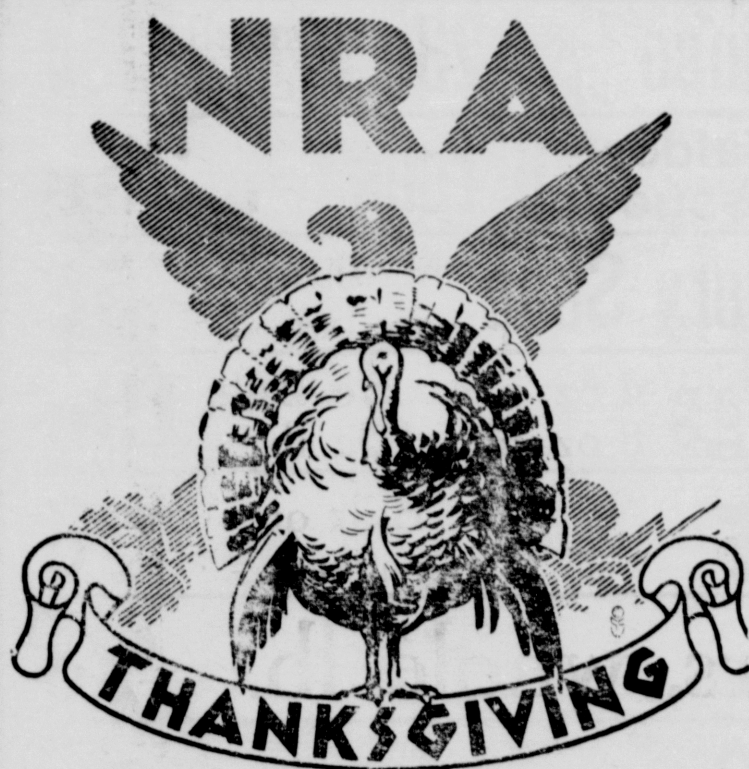

Constance Bennett and Gilbert Roland will give you the romantic and dramatic thrills of your life. And you'll be intrigued by the many emotional crises experienced by the woman spy in her perils and romance behind the battle lines!

See this elaborate feature set in Gay Vienna and the danger zone, but made without the horrors of war.

Very truly yours,

PETE MEDLEY, Manager
Malone Theatre

P. S.--We will have a Special Thanksgiving matinee Thursday at 2:30 and the evening shows will start at 6:30 and 8:30.--T. D. M.

The FACTS About TAX EQUALITY

City owned business should bear a fair share of taxes. That is only just and equitable. This series shows some of the reasons why TAX EQUALITY is necessary for the protection of every tax payer. Read and act!

Shall Tax Exemption Keep YOUR Children Out of School?

Cities that operate their own businesses are throwing an extra tax and school levy burden upon your shoulders—for they pay no taxes to the city, state or national government, and their securities are largely tax free.

Over $100,000,000 worth of city owned business property is tax exempt in the state, yet our citizens are tax ridden and our schools are destitute.

If this inequality in taxation were adjusted, if everyone had to pay equal taxes, the revenue from this tax exempt property alone would open every school door in the state and put hundreds of teachers back to work at living pay.

ASSOCIATION FOR TAX EQUALITY

Box 36, Jefferson City, Mo.

I am in favor of an amendment and a law which will place all businesses on the tax rolls—whether privately or publicly owned—so that all such property shall pay its proportionate share of state, county and school taxes as well as state and federal income taxes.

I pledge that I will vote against any candidate for public office who is known to be opposed to such an equitable tax law.

What Have You To Be Thankful For?

You Can Easily Think of Hundreds of Things But Have You Thought of the Importance of These?

You Should Be Thankful For

1. The many very good Independent Grocers in your midst, who give you telephone and delivery service in addition to high quality foods at moderate prices.
2. The privilege of having charge accounts, which is extended by all Independent Grocers to every family that establishes a favorable debt-paying reputation.
3. For Independent Grocers who are interested, not just in grabbing your dollar with baits, short-weights and dollar snatching tactics—but who have an unselfish interest in you, your family's welfare and your community's prosperity; who desire to see you cared for in illness as in health—only asking in return prompt payment of the accounts.
4. For a reliable Wholesale Grocery whose economical methods enable your Independent Grocer friends to supply you with Quality Foods, such as Fox, Radio and Golden Drip Brands at such reasonable prices.

May We Ask That You Give These Things Sober Careful Thought This Thanksgiving Season?
